San Antonio Aztec

Week Ending November 26

The Aztec theatre this week presented in addition to its regular stage offering of the Aztec Symphonizers, a futuristic comedy playlet featuring Jack Edwards and Edna Parks, two favorite San Antonio stock players.

The play was "In 1999," and dealt with domestic problems in that far-off period of the end of this century. Jean Sarli presented his boys in a melange of popular numbers, interspersed by singing and dancing numbers by Lindsay Coons, featured saxophone player; Jack "Jazz" Klien, Olivenne Johnson, and Duray and Noway, imported steppers. The screen attraction is Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall in "Man Crazy."
